Kia ora and welcome!

I would like to extend my sincere thanks to you for exploring our prospectus Te Waharoa 2017 and for considering Te Wānanga o Aotearoa as the place to further your education.

Te Wānanga o Aotearoa is guided by our vision of Whānau Transformation through Education and in Te Waharoa we hope this transformation can start for you.

For us to achieve this, we've made tauira (student) success central to everything we do and have made a number of changes over the past year to improve our relevance and visibility in the tertiary education marketplace.

Ninety six percent of our tauira say they would recommend our organisation as a great place to study, but despite this endorsement our research has shown us that many New Zealanders aren't fully aware of what Te Wānanga o Aotearoa is, what we offer and what makes our learning environment unique.

As a result we've refreshed and enhanced our brand.

It was also important that we listened to what our tauira and communities had to say about us, our course provision and what they thought was necessary for our tauira to succeed with meaningful qualifications and better employment prospects.

To achieve this we have added a number of new programmes to further diversify our existing suite of courses.

We believe these programmes will enhance your employment opportunities, provide a path to higher education or fulfil other aspirations you may have.

Te Wānanga o Aotearoa provides a nurturing and supportive environment for our tauira – one that has attracted hundreds of thousands of people like yourself who have chosen our organisation to deliver their higher learning.

It is our approach, which has been guided by Māori principles and values over the last 30 years, that ensures a unique educational experience for all New Zealanders.

We remove the often high barriers to education by providing many fee-free or low-cost programmes at more than 80 locations nationwide.

We embrace the diverse range of learners of all ages who choose to study with us and are confident we have a programme that will suit your needs.

I hope to welcome you into our whānau to begin or rekindle a learning experience that I know will further empower you with the skills to ensure you will achieve your full potential.

Ngā mihi nui ki a koe e koke nei kia angitu ai ki roto i te mātauranga.

Te Wānanga o Aotearoa is a world leader in indigenous education and New Zealand's second largest tertiary provider. Our purpose is to provide unique, high-quality education opportunities – delivered through a Māori world view – which will lead to positive transformational changes for all our tauira (students).

Ours is a story of growth, discovery, and of transformational change that affects not just the individual but the wider whānau and communities.

We have evolved from humble beginnings to become a modern progressive indigenous education organisation with a very strong foundation, that is committed to industry best processes and practices.

We've been educating and inspiring New Zealanders of all ages and cultures for more than 30 years and have welcomed over 300,000 students since our establishment in 1985.

Our purpose is to provide unique, high quality educational opportunities for Māori, and all others, which contributes to positive transformational changes.

Kaiako Profiles

Kui and Frank Topia
Maunga Kura Toi
Bachelor of Māori Art Level 7

For students of Te Wānanga o Aotearoa tutors Kui and Frank Topia, the benefits of raranga (weaving) extend far beyond the skills required to create a kete.

The Porirua-based sister and brother - Te Aupōuri, Ngāti Haua, Ngāti Porou - teach Level 4 and Level 5 Raranga programmes and say they enjoy seeing students develop throughout the programme.

“For some, it’s a real healing thing,” Kui says. “They want to find themselves, connect to their tikanga, that’s what really stands out for me. It’s not just weaving, it’s the wairua of it too.”

Kui has taught raranga for more than 10 years and says the programme attracts a wide range of taura.

“Students come here for many different reasons. Some want to return to their communities to pass on their skills while others may use them in restoration or conservation projects. It’s quite open, there are many different pathways they can take. It depends on what the student wants to achieve.”

Kui herself is proof of what can be achieved, having been a raranga student herself.

“I came to Te Wānanga o Aotearoa when Sarni Scott was kaiako and I did my degree in raranga. I started as kaiawhina and it all just fell into place,” she says.

Both Kui and Frank hold a Bachelor of Māori Art - Maunga Kura Toi degrees from Te Wānanga o Aotearoa.

Frank has been either learning or teaching raranga since 2000, when he completed the Level 3 Raranga programme. He later returned to Te Wānanga o Aotearoa to complete his degree and says he loves using his knowledge and skills to help students achieve.

“It’s something not everyone can do and I enjoy sharing that with students. It is much more than just weaving, it’s the knowledge gained from it,” he says.

“I love the cultural practice of it. It’s a very holistic thing. It transforms the way students think and they can take that and apply it anywhere.”

Kui says it’s the students who give her the most satisfaction. “That’s what keeps me here,” she says. “Seeing the progress they make and the light in their eyes.”

Tauira Profiles

Rawinia Rimene Certificate in Small Business Management

What is possibly the world's first indoor drift trike centre is on the home straight with Te Wānanga o Aotearoa graduate Rawinia Rimene behind the wheel.

Drift Trikes New Zealand officially opened its Porirua warehouse doors in April, 2016 to an excited crowd of supporters.

The motorised phenomenon is thought to have originated in Whanganui as pedal drift trikes, less than a decade ago. But growing popularity in the United States has seen its appeal spread to become an internationally-recognised sport.

As a new business owner, Rawinia completed three courses through the Porirua campus starting her first; a Certificate in Money Management in 2014.

She wanted to enrol into the year-long Certificate in Small Business Management but was persuaded to complete the six-month financial course first, after admitting she had “some bad budget issues.”

“It showed me a whole different concept of money. The way it was executed was really helpful, it was good how the tutors used real-life case studies.”

The Certificate in Small Business Management followed, by which time Rawinia was a full-time mum to a one-year old.

A Certificate in Applied Small Business Growth and Development came next but when her partner Justin Leelo, an electrician by trade and an engineering tutu by heart, considered building and selling drift trikes, she asked; “Why don't we set up a centre?”

Cue eight months of research while trying to find something similar to model their idea off. The closest development they came to was indoor go-karting.

“We didn't know where to start and didn't find anything. Interest had grown but we couldn't find anything like it, no safe enclosed environment.”

Certificate in Small Business Management Level 4

Running your own business? Have a great business idea but not sure how to go about starting up?

This intermediate-level programme will guide you through creating a comprehensive and achievable business plan.

You'll learn about:

- › business plans
- › legal obligations and compliance
- › marketing basics
- › being an employer
- › basic accounting and GST

You'll know how to:

- › complete a comprehensive business plan
- › set up and operate your own business
- › market your business
- › meet your compliance obligations
- › do financial planning, reporting, and GST returns

Tauira Profile

Delena Tota
He Korowai Ākonga - Bachelor of Education (Adult Education)

It’s taken a while but Delena Tota has finally found where she wants to be. The Te Wānanga o Aotearoa tauira is in the final year of He Korowai Ākonga - Bachelor of Education (Adult Education) after earlier completing a Certificate in Social Services (Biculturalism in Practice) and Diploma in Adult Education in Porirua.

Her initial plan was to work in social services but “I wanted to be contributing, not just listening to other people’s problems,” she says.

“Social services is worthwhile and a great foundation, it is a gift to be able to do that, but I found my direction changed. I wanted to be effective and make an impact in terms of helping people.”

She saw the Diploma in Adult Education as a way of achieving that so “I followed my nose and have absolutely no regrets. It’s just been one foot in front of the other”.

Delena – of Cook Islands heritage – says continuing on to complete her adult education degree helped “open my eyes to new views and challenges” and she credits her kaiako with continually pushing her.

“I needed that, it’s how I operate in terms of my learning in education,” she says.

“I believe that this is what they have seen in me and maybe I didn’t see it myself. The journey with my degree has been amazing. We have shared those lived experiences, that’s what the kaupapa is about. I highly recommend it.”

And Delena has a firm idea of where she wants to put her studies to good use.

“My end goal or objective is actually to work at Te Wānanga o Aotearoa in adult education,” she says.

“The main thing I find is the wānanga allows ‘the other’. That’s something I take away in my learning. I think sometimes you have to be mindful of other views and I think that here I can bring Pacific and Māori together and move forward together and support each other.”

She is proud to be nearing the end of her current studies and says she couldn’t be happier with her decision to study adult education.

“I feel very much at home; I feel like a happy duck in my very own duck pond.”

And she remains committed to higher education and intends continuing with studies towards a Masters in Education.

He Korowai Ākonga - Bachelor of Education (Primary Teaching)

Level 7

Māori Language

Ko te reo te ito e pupuru, e kawē i ngā āhuatanga me ngā tikanga. He taonga tuku iho nā ngā mātua tūpuna, ka mutu, kua māmā ake te ako. Ko ā mātou akoranga reo Māori, mai rā anō, he mea whakarauora i te reo Māori. Kua ākina e mātou te tini, me te mano tāngata ki te kōrero Māori.

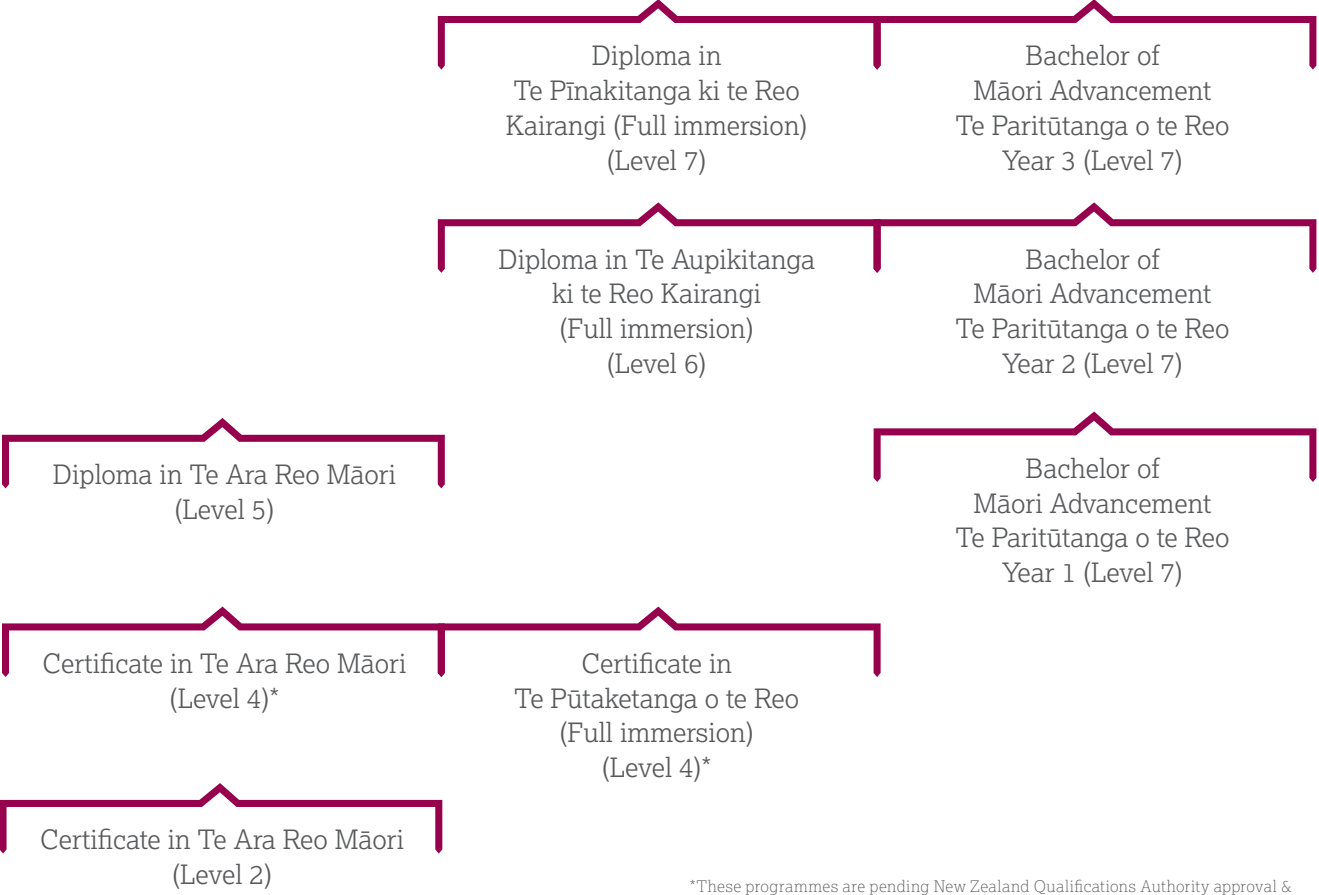

Kei te pīrangi kōrero Māori ki te kainga? Ki te mahi? Ki te kura? Kei te pīrangi whakahua tika i ngā ingoa Māori? Kei te pīrangi kia māia tō whakapuaki ko wai koe, kia māia tō tu ki te karanga, whaikōrero rānei ki te marae? Ahakoa ō whāinga, tō āhei, te wā rānei e āhei ai koe ki te ako, he nui ngā kōwhiringa e tika ana mōu.

Ako hamanga, ako motuhake i ngā rangi, ngā ahipō, ngā mutunga wiki rānei. E uru atu ki tētahi akoranga reo rua, rūmakina rānei ki te reo, me ngā tikanga ki tētahi o ngā akoranga noho, wānanga. Kāore he akoranga Māori i tua atu i te reo. Ahakoa tō pakeke, tō takenga mai rānei, ka takapuria mātou ki raro, ko koe kei runga e ako ana i tō tātou reo rangatira.

Our language is the vehicle for retaining, transmitting, and living our culture. It’s precious to us, a taonga tuku iho - a treasure handed down by our tūpuna - and it’s never been easier to learn. Our te reo Māori programmes have been contributing to revitalising the language for decades. We’ve helped tens of thousands of people become competent, conversational, and fluent in te reo Māori.

Want to use te reo Māori at home? At work? At school? Want to feel confident pronouncing people’s names? Want to stand confidently to introduce yourself, or do karanga or whaikōrero on the marae? No matter what your goals, your current ability, or how much time you can dedicate to learning te reo, we have great options to suit your needs.

Study part time or full time, during the day or on evenings and weekends. Enrol on a programme that’s delivered bilingually or immerse yourself in the language and rich cultural experience our noho and wānanga based programmes provide. There’s no better way to understand our culture than to speak it. No matter your age or ethnicity, it’s our absolute privilege to help you learn tō tātou reo rangatira - our chiefly language.

Social Services

Many of us have been through experiences in our lives that inspire us to give back. We want to support other people to learn, grow, and make it through whatever challenges life brings.

A career in social services is rewarding and fulfilling, and a qualification will open the doors you need to walk through in order to make a difference. Social service professionals make vital contributions to our ever-evolving society.

If you care about social justice and human rights, and you want to help people adjust to or change their circumstances, these qualifications can give you the necessary skills to draw on.

Our programmes are all delivered from a culturally inclusive Māori and bicultural framework.

Learn more about yourself and the cultures of Aotearoa New Zealand. We have a certificate in social services for beginners, a social work degree for those who want to move towards becoming registered social workers in the field and a supervision qualification for those who have been working in the field or who are interested in learning about supervision as a practice.

*These programmes are pending New Zealand Qualifications Authority approval & accreditation, and funding from Tertiary Education Commission. Programmes that are not approved, accredited or funded will not proceed.

Kaiako Profile

Tina Ngata Tutor - Certificate in Tikanga Marae (Taiao) Level 4

Whirikoka kaiako Tina Ngata says we can do more in terms of sustainability and our kaimahi don't have to wait to be told to do their bit.

Tina has received plenty of media coverage about her ongoing kaupapa to care for the environment and reduce plastic waste.

Tina teaches a 36-week level 4 programme Tikanga Marae (Taiao) which focuses on the links between the marae and the environment.

She also blogs about her mahi at <https://thenonplasticmaori.wordpress.com/about/>

Last year she completed Plastic-Free July, which included a series of events that ran in conjunction with Matariki celebrations.

The final event of Plastic Free July was a beach clean-up at Kaiti Beach.

Among the waste which was picked up from the beach were computer monitors, towers and keyboards, mattresses, a toilet bowl, 10 rubbish bags, a bike, a crate of bottles and cans and countless cigarette butts.

Despite those efforts, Tina says there will be more rubbish on the beach today.

"It renews itself every day and will do for as long as we continue to consume plastics," she says.

Tina says everyone can do their bit for the environment and the Whirikoka campus was now considering how a campus approach to sustainability might work.

"We are talking about it at the moment, what it might look like at Whirikoka. We have a mara at the back and we are looking at reducing our carbon footprint as well."

She says TWoA also has an Environmental Strategy "in the works" but staff shouldn't wait for it before doing something for the environment.

"We don't have to wait for it to come from the top. We certainly have the desire and more people are looking to move in that direction and it is stronger if it comes from yourself," she says.

"Think about the lunch you buy or bring to work and what you do with the waste from that."

Caring for the environment is "probably our most primary response to being kaitiaki," she says.

"The desire is there to do it but we definitely need to do more to be considered leaders in the field".

Tina says her increased profile has seen a growth in interest in the programmes she teaches, but she takes no credit for that.

"There is more interest in our programmes. There is a lot of interest from people in this region because I think we have reached a critical place with the environment. We need to take action and to be inspired by people acting at a community level."

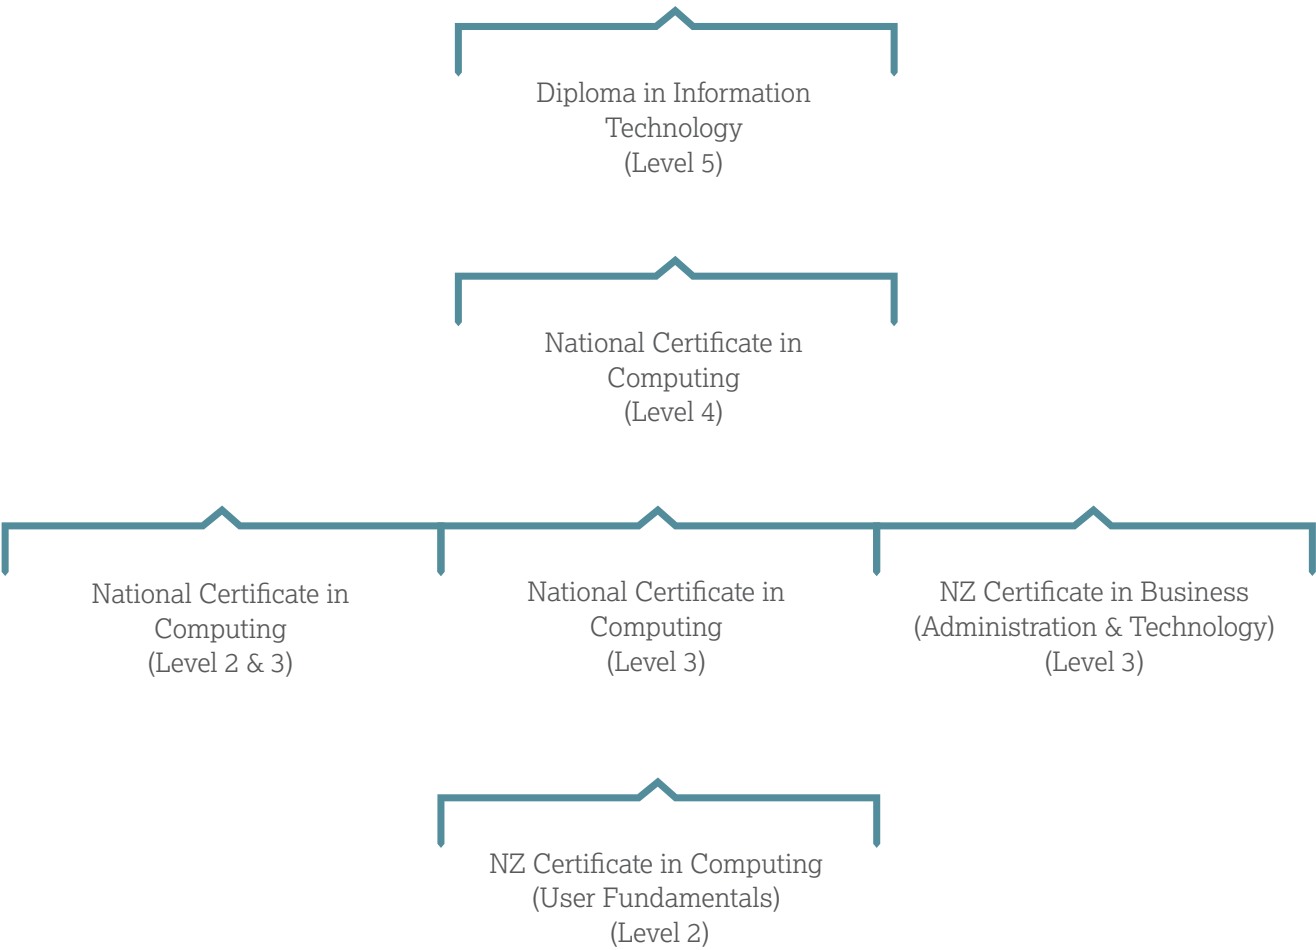

Computing

Computing

Want to use computers for home, study, or work? No matter what your needs, we have computing programmes to help you develop the skills you need to achieve your goals. With a range of delivery modes during the day, evenings and some weekends we have study options to suit your family and work commitments.

Our relaxed and inclusive learning environment is informed by Māori thinking and practices while you learn about computing and technology for everyday and your future.

Our taura love how accessible our programmes are—chances are, we’re delivering at a site near you. Come and learn computing in a fun, whānau (family) environment.

NZ Certificate in Computing (User Fundamentals) Level 2

Technology is one of the world’s fastest growing industries and this programme gives you the skills you’ll need to get a head start on a rewarding career. This programme is for people who are preparing for a range of entry-level positions across industries that require digital technology skills. You’ll be well placed to improve digital literacy and capability in a range of community and voluntary areas.

Graduates of this programme will be able to use digital technology at an introductory level to produce and process information and to operate with internationally relevant skills.

You’ll learn about:

- › recognising basic security risks when using digital devices
- › how to manage and protect data on personal computers
- › accepted conventions and practices for digital communications technologies
- › produce desktop published documents
- › creating websites

You’ll know how to:

- › use features, functions and settings of digital devices and software to create, access, organise, present and store information and data

- › use the internet, digital devices and software to connect with other users and devices
- › demonstrate knowledge of the types of common computing hardware and software
- › trouble-shoot and fix simple computing and connectivity problems

Where will this take me?

I want to keep studying

You’ll be ready to enrol in a next level computing or business programme. Or, you’ll have the skills to begin studies in any subject.

Tauira Profile

Julia Costa National Certificate in Computing Level 3

After nearly a decade at home raising her children, contracting and starting her own business, Julia Costa decided to freshen up her computing skills to help her re-enter the workforce.

“I was home with the kids for about nine years so I decided to upskill and refresh my skills before going back to work full time,” she says.

Julia completed Level 2 Computing at another tertiary institution before choosing to enrol at Te Wānanga o Aotearoa in Porirua, where she completed the Level 3 Computing programme and now finds herself finishing off Level 4 Computing.

“My initial intention was to do Level 2 and possibly Level 3 before going back to work,” she says. “At the end of Level 3, I decided I was enjoying the course so much that I should challenge myself and try the advanced Level 4.”

Julia – Ngāi Tahu - says much of her success is due to tutor, Jamey Hepi.

“He’s really easy to understand and has real life experience so is not just teaching from a book. He draws on his life experience and provides real examples to make what we learn relevant, and I respond well to his way of teaching.” With a background in events, Julia says she needed the strong computer skills and formal qualifications to offset her experience as she seeks to return to the fulltime workforce and possibly into another career path.

“I’m finding that while I’ve got all the experience in terms of event coordination, management and delivery, you’ve got to have that piece of paper to back you up and to say ‘NZQA recognises my new skills’.” She has received that from Te Wānanga o Aotearoa but also much more.

“I have exceeded what I need to get a job but I have really enjoyed my time at the wānanga. I’ve had experience at different educational institutions and the wānanga is easily the best. It has a real heart-beat and really is whānau based. The tutors are there to guide you but we help each other as well and I’ve found that really valuable.”

Diploma in Information Technology

Level 5

To keep up with how networks and computer systems work, you need up-to-date training. This specialist programme gives you the skills to have a career in the ever-growing IT industry. If you’ve done our Level 4 computing programme and want to take it further, this is the place.

Specialist IT skills are in demand in every industry and throughout the world. Open up your career options by learning how to build networks, use a programming language and carry out systems analysis to industry standards.

You’ll learn about:

- › creating advanced text documents
- › computer building and maintenance
- › networking
- › Java
- › business applications
- › communication skill
- › systems analysis
- › web design

You’ll know how to:

- › build and trouble shoot computer devices
- › build basic networks
- › use a programming language
- › design and build websites
- › design ICT business solutions communications

Health & Fitness

Would you like to learn about sports, health and fitness? Keen to improve your coaching skills? Are you interested in the traditional art of waka ama, tū taua, or rongoā? We've got the experts who are willing to teach you!

Formalise your interests in any of these areas with a qualification from one of our hauora programmes. You will learn about your own wellness, while learning how to support others, too.

Certificate in Tū Taua

Level 4

So many of the traditional practices of our tūpuna can feel out of reach. This unique programme gives you the amazing opportunity to learn the ancestral practices, values and protocols of the warrior.

Tū taua is a traditional Māori martial art. You'll learn about Māori culture and traditions, reconnect with your heritage, gain new skills and get fit. Have fun in a safe and relaxed learning environment while you develop a specialised skillset and help to preserve the rich culture and art of the warrior.

You'll learn about:

- › sport, games and training exercises of the toa
- › whakapapa and pepeha
- › karakia
- › knowledge, tikanga and values of the toa
- › stances, positions, strokes, body movements, facial expressions, blocks, counters, engagement

You'll know how to:

- › use a taiaha
- › follow the tikanga surrounding mau rākau
- › participate in the sport, games, and training exercises of the Māori warrior
- › introduce yourself in te Reo Māori
- › share your whakapapa and pepeha

Certificate in Rongoā Māori Appreciation

Level 4

Would you like to become a kaitiaki of our medicinal plants and connect with the mātauranga of our tūpuna to address the wellness needs of today?

This programme introduces you to the species and uses of indigenous plants that can support wellness. It gives you the insight and understanding to know, appreciate, and respect rongoā but not yet use it or advise others on how to use it—that will take further study to do safely.

Start to learn the prized body of knowledge that is traditional Māori medicine: Rongoā Māori

You'll learn about:

- › origins, cultural principles, and practices surrounding indigenous plant species and health and medicinal applications
- › identification and classification of rongoā species
- › health and safety
- › kaitiakitanga as it relates to rongoā
- › researching a Hauora/Oranga organisation

You'll know how to:

- › explain the relationship between hauora and rongoā
- › share the origins of rongoā Māori from Atua Māori
- › use the appropriate karakia to rongoā Māori
- › explain the history of rongoā before and after colonisation
- › understand cautions and safety surrounding the use of rongoā

Tauira Profile

Te Aroha Smith Certificate in Waka Ama Level 4

A waka ama hikoi which began on the Waikato River, continued in South Taranaki and Te Aroha Smith is now using her knowledge to ensure it carries on into the future.

Te Aroha recently completed the Certificate in Waka Ama Level 4 programme at Te Wānanga o Aotearoa – held mainly in Patea – and says it continued her commitment to strengthening links between people and their awa and will help her teach waka ama to the next generation.

“Our Patea awa – Te Awanui a Taikehu – is beautiful and enduring but, like others, I felt a sense of mokemoke (loneliness), so the more positive activity we share with our awa, the stronger the mauri ora of the awa and its people will become,” she says.

Te Aroha - Waikato, Taranaki Whanau, Ngāpuhi, Ngāti Kahungunu, Te Aitanga a Māhaki, Te Atihaunui a Pāpārangi, Ngāti Hauā, Ngāti Apa – initially completed the Kaihoe Waka course in Kirikiriroa before venturing overseas and eventually settling in Taranaki, where she is a kaiako at Te Kura Kaupapa Māori O Ngāti Ruanui in Hawera.

She knew she would return to waka ama, “but I had to wait and see how it would unfold”.

“When I saw the ad for the course, I thought, there is the beginning of what needs to happen. Tangaroa, waka and voyaging are my passions and I felt the calling.” Along with enhancing her skills and knowledge, the programme enables her to teach waka ama.

“Kaiako attain teaching qualifications to validate our learning and this is no different. This validates my ability to teach waka ama.”

The course includes Coastguard Day Skipper and VHF Operator qualifications, along with teamwork, local knowledge, history and whakapapa, which she now wants to pass on.

“You learn to work together, and that’s something I want to teach our kids. I was hungry for this knowledge and see it as part of this intergenerational transmission of knowledge. I long to see our tamariki out on our waka, competing at all levels and to be part of sharing that with them.”

Ko au te awa, ko te awa ko au.

Diploma in Waka

Level 5

Leads to: Te Pōkairua Tikanga (Waka) (Kaupae 5) New Zealand Diploma in Tikanga (Waka) Level 5

Te Wānanga o Aotearoa is proud to offer our first diploma qualification in Waka.

Tauira Profile

Aaron Tupene Foundation Forest Harvesting Level 3

A “city boy” from Porirua has found a new life in the bush and couldn't be happier.

Four years ago Aaron Tupene – Te Whānau-ā-Apanui - was a courier driver but wanted a change.

“I thought ‘this isn't for me’. I just wanted to try something different,” he says.

So he signed up for the Foundational Forest Harvesting Level 3 programme at Te Wānanga o Aotearoa in Upper Hutt and hasn't looked back.

Now in his third year since graduating, Aaron says the course was one of the best things he's done.

“It was pretty life-changing for me,” he says.

“I'm from the city and most of the boys on the course were from the country.

When I first started it was quite hard, but I stuck in there and I think I got a bit of respect for that. If you hang in there and want to learn...”

He also credits tutor, Terry Barber, with keeping him focussed.

“He showed a lot of faith in me and a couple of other students and I want to repay him by doing a good job. I was determined to get a job pretty much straight after and that's what happened.”

Aaron, 34, now works for Ramon Hart at Otaki-based Sabre Logging and says the skills he learned on the programme have proved beneficial.

“Sharpening chainsaws, that's an important one. It's a real basic skill but a really important one. And Health and Safety is such a big thing in this industry.”

He's now the company safety rep, works in all areas of the operation and is more than happy with his decision to study with Te Wānanga o Aotearoa.

“I'd definitely recommend it,” he says.

“I really enjoy my work and I don't think I can see myself leaving this job anytime soon.”

“That's what keep me here,” she says. “Seeing the progress they make and the light in their eyes.”

NZ Certificate in Tourism

Level 3*

Leads to: Te Pūkaitahi Tāpoi (Kaupae 3)
NZ Certificate in Tourism with strands in Visitor Experience, Tourism and Travel

Tourism is an industry full of adventure and exploration, and in Aotearoa we can offer visitors something they can't find anywhere else in the world – Māori culture at its best. If you like meeting new people and would love to show off the beauty of our country, learn about this adventurous industry from a Māori perspective.

When you study with us, you'll increase your understanding of mātauranga Māori (knowledge) and tikanga (protocols) to enhance visitor experiences. You'll be able to apply local tikanga (regional protocols) and use appropriate expressions of kaitiakitanga (guardianship) around people, places and events.

You'll learn about:

- › customer service skills
- › proactively engaging with manuhiri to enhance their visitor experience
- › major New Zealand tourism destinations
- › basic expressions of kaitiakitanga in relation to people, places and events
- › appropriate and basic mihimihi, kōrero, poroporoaki, and karakia during tourism events
- › mātauranga Māori and relevant tikanga that will enhance visitor experiences

You'll know how to:

- › engage with visitors in a variety of tourism settings
- › apply the skills required to meet the needs of a tourism business
- › operate at a level requiring limited supervision
- › use customer service skills
- › use appropriate mihimihi, kōrero, poroporoaki, and karakia during a Māori tourism event

Where will this take me?

NZ Certificate in Forest Industry
Foundation Skills (Establishment & Silviculture) Level 2*

Our pine forests aren’t just left to grow on their own – they need workers to plant and maintain them by knowing which trees to remove and which ones need to be left to grow.

This nationally recognised qualification provides the foundation skills you need to grow and cultivate forests. You’ll learn both in the classroom and out in the bush, where you’ll get some real experience working with other forestry professionals.

You’ll learn about:

- › general safety requirements for entering the forest
- › hazards and hazard management
- › commercial forestry
- › selecting plantation trees
- › plantation forest establishment (planting, fertilising and releasing)
- › silviculture operations (pruning and thinning)

You’ll know how to:

- › establish pine forest plantations
- › demonstrate knowledge of the use of agrichemicals
- › demonstrate knowledge of fertilising plantation trees

- › select plantation trees for commercial forestry operations
- › plant plantation trees
- › prune plantation trees under supervision

Services for Students

We offer a huge range of support services to help you while you study. Our aim is to ensure you have a successful learning experience no matter what programme or what stage of the learning journey you're in.

Student Support

The Student Support team will be your point of contact for all kinds of services, from personal and budgeting through to academic and disability support. Our services are free and anything you tell us will stay with us.

Here are some of things we can help you with:

- › Enrolment support such as choosing your programme or completing the enrolment form
- › Academic support like help with your assignments, essay writing, referencing, presentation skills and time management
- › Access to services like counselling and career guidance
- › Disability support, from note taking to accessing special equipment
- › Financial advice, such as help with Studylink, budgeting and scholarships
- › Complaints resolution service

To contact your nearest Student Support Advisor call us free on 0800 355 553. You can also visit us at one of our many campuses. We're here to help you.

Libraries

Access to resources is vital when you're studying. And we want to make that as easy for you as possible. Our libraries, Te Pātaka Maramatanga, are based around the country and provide free services to you no matter where you are. You can access:

- › Computers, including free internet and wifi access
- › Books, magazines, DVD's and databases
- › The ability to view videos and listen to music
- › The library catalogue where you can search for resources (on site and from home, online or by phone)
- › Books and other resources (which we can courier to you at no charge—returns are free, too)

Our staff are friendly, trained to help, and have a wealth of experience. Come on in if you're nearby or just give us a call on 0800 11 55 33.

Call Centre

Our friendly call centre is available to answer your calls from 8am to 6pm weekdays. With our 0800 number it's free to call us from any New Zealand landline or mobile phone. You can also email us at info@twoa.ac.nz. We can help with everything from enrolment queries to study support enquiries and more.

Give us a call! 0800 355 553.

Help with paying fees

Because we want education to be accessible, we offer many courses with no fees. If your chosen programme does have fees, here are some of your options for financial assistance.

Student Loans and Allowances through Studylink

Many of our programmes meet the study requirements for Studylink financial support. Exactly what assistance you are eligible to receive depends on a range of factors, including:

- › whether a programme is classed as full or part-time study
- › your age
- › your income (and your partner's or parents')
- › the programme level
- › your residency status

We can help you with the Studylink application process including filling out forms. You can talk to a Student Support Advisor if you have questions, or call Studylink directly on 0800 88 99 00.

Please note: We have no influence on the outcome of applications to Studylink.

Aotearoa Scholarship Trust

If you're studying at a diploma level or higher, you might be eligible to apply for a scholarship or award through Aotearoa Scholarship Trust (AST). AST was established in 2010 and has presented almost $500,000 in scholarships and awards to support whānau transformation through education.

Students studying with us and through other tertiary providers can apply. Last year we also introduced some scholarships for Tai Wānanga students.

Applications are usually due in April each year. Full details are available on our website, or you can contact us on ast@twoa.ac.nz and we'll send you an information pack.

Other Scholarships and Assistance

There are scholarships and opportunities for financial assistance through all kinds of sources. We know they can be hard to find. Breakout is an online service that helps you search for funding sources available through other organisations including your hapū/iwi.

You can access Breakout through our Student Support team. Give them a call to get the Breakout access details.

How do I enrol?

1. Enrolment forms – online and paper

You can enrol online at www.twoa.ac.nz/enrol. It takes approximately 10 minutes to complete the online process.

If you prefer to complete a paper enrolment, call us on 0800 355 553 or visit one of our sites (see page 182 Campus contact details). If you need help with filling it out or you have any questions, just ask! You'll need to:

- › Fill out the enrolment form
- › Provide ID
- › Provide evidence of citizenship or residency
- › Provide evidence of your qualifications, if any
- › Sign and date the form

2. Meet the kaiako (tutor)

We want to get to know you. The kaiako (tutor) or another staff member will arrange a time to meet with you kanohi-ki-te-kanohi (face to face) or to attend on of our programme information seminars. The purpose of the interview or seminar is to:

Explain everything you need to know about the programme including –

- › when and where classes are held
- › any fees
- › what we'll do for you
- › your responsibilities

Give you the chance to –

- › ask plenty of questions
- › tell us anything you think we should know about you
- › ask for any special support you might need

Assess your readiness for the programme. This might include –

- › an assessment of your skill level in the subject
- › an assessment of literacy and numeracy
- › an assessment of your English language skills

3. Special requirements

Some programmes have special requirements. Those are listed on the programme description, and might include:

- › A literacy and numeracy assessment
- › A drug test
- › Police vetting
- › Currently working or volunteering in a specific field

Another one of our programmes, or an “equivalent”, which can mean –

- › a similar qualification from somewhere else
- › a certain number of years of experience in the subject
- › a portfolio to show your equivalent experience
- › letters from referees to attest to your skill and experience

As we're sure you understand, these requirements are specific to each programme. Call us if you want to know more, and we'll also tell you everything you need to know in the interview.

Who can enrol?

You need to be:

- › 16 years or older (some exceptions may be possible for youth under 16 years of age with an exemption from the Ministry of Education)
- › Living in New Zealand

And be ONE of the following:

- › New Zealand citizen (including Cook Islands, Niue, Tokelau)
- › New Zealand permanent resident
- › Australian citizen
- › Australian permanent resident with returning resident's visa
- › Refugee status and required to study as part of your residency requirements

Lifelong Learning - From Pēpi to Kaumātua

One of the things that inspires us is “whānau transformation through education.” We know that the learning and development of individuals has far-reaching effects, transforming whānau, communities, and ultimately society.

That’s why we have a bigger view of education: we contribute to learning from Pēpi to Pāpā—from infancy and through the rest of our lives. Here’s how.

Early Learning Centres - Puna Whakatupu

If you want childcare and early education grounded in contemporary mātauranga Māori for your tamariki, then our Puna Whakatupu are the places for you. We now have five puna (centres) throughout the North Island where your tamariki (children) will be loved, nurtured, cared for and educated by qualified and experienced staff who deliver our programme in Māori and English.

Our aim is to provide early childhood education for the community, including students studying with us, near our main delivery sites.

The name “Puna Whakatupu” refers to the centres as a water spring of nurturing, growth and learning for tamariki.

Each Puna has:

- › At least 80% of teachers who are qualified and Education Council registered
- › A learning environment that nurtures mātauranga Māori
- › A learning environment informed by Te Whāriki, the New Zealand Aotearoa early childhood curriculum
- › Competitive rates
- › 20 hours ECE each week for tamariki 3 – 6 years old
- › Healthy meals for all tamariki at no extra cost

Drop by and visit one of our Puna. We’d love to show you around.

Tai Wānanga is our secondary school model with sites in Palmerston North and Hamilton. With our vision of kia tū, kia ora, kia Māori, our approach is to develop the whole person in a uniquely Māori learning environment. Our Papaiōea (Palmerston North) campus builds on sporting excellence, and our Ruakura (Hamilton) campus has a focus on discovery, technology, and innovation.

Our rangatahi (youth) start each day with exercise and breakfast in a whānau atmosphere where teachers and students all participate, even in the clean up and dishes. Days then continue with rangatahi each working on their own learning path, supported through a combination of directed and self-directed study.

There’s no other secondary school quite like Tai Wānanga. We believe that learning comes alive when it’s purposeful, feeds passions, and validates culture and identity. For more information see www.taiwananga.co.nz.

Youth Services

Another way we can support rangatahi is through our Youth Services. This new approach aims to get young people into education, training or work-based learning. It’ll help young people gain the skills to find a job and have an independent future.

What we can do is provide a youth coach to give guidance, support and encouragement to youth to help them find the education, training or work-based learning that works.

For more information on our Youth Services you can visit our website: www.youthservice.govt.nz or call 0800 TAI OHI (0800 824 644)

Taikākā

The mainstream secondary school system doesn’t always work for everyone. So we’ve stepped up to help meet that need by running an alternative education programme called Taikākā. This is not an open entry programme and is only open to for 13-15 year olds who are referred to us by contracted secondary schools. Every rangatahi (young person) enrolled in Taikākā develops an individual learning plan and attends flexible weekday programmes designed to meet their needs.

Kia tū, kia ora, kia Māori

Upon completion of Taikākā, students either return to secondary school or can enrol on one of our Youth Guarantee programmes.

STAR

STAR programmes are a way to experience some new and exciting things while you’re still at school. We come into schools and deliver short courses so you can:

- › experience a little bit of Te Wānanga o Aotearoa
- › get some insight into possible career paths
- › earn NCEA credits

We’d love to meet with your school to discuss programmes we can offer. There’s a huge range of subjects—here are just a few you might want to run:

- › Whakairo (carving), Māori art, design, and drawing techniques
- › Pōwhiri, Atua, and huihuinga (parts of our Mauri Ora programme)
- › Police Preparation
- › Ākina—an open day with all kinds of events for you to see what else we have to offer.

Secondary-Tertiary Programmes (STPs)

We’re partnering with schools to help our young people achieve better education and employment opportunities. After all, that’s why Te Wānanga o Aotearoa was founded! We’re piloting some programmes related to Te Ao Māori (Creative Industries) and Fitness (Service Industries). We’d love to talk to your school about partnerships and other programmes we could run.

Kāpuia
Graduate Community

When you've studied with us we want to stay connected with you.

We have established our graduate community for your benefit. Once you complete your studies with us you'll belong to a whānau that will continue to support you. There are many benefits in belonging to our Wānanga whānau including networking, events and creating a lifelong connection to Te Wānanga o Aotearoa.

The name Kāpuia comes from a proverb by Kīngi Tāwhiao:

Ki te kotahi te kākaho ka whati
Ki te kāpuia e kore e whati

*When reeds stand alone,
they are vulnerable
But bound together,
they are unbreakable*

Enrolment to Kāpuia will be automatic from 2017. For more information, you can contact us by:

Our Brand New Journey

We're on a brand new journey,
but our kaupapa remains the same

Since our humble beginnings in Te Awamutu 31 years ago, Te Wānanga o Aotearoa has grown to become New Zealand's second largest education provider with more than 80 sites nationwide.

We are proud to announce changes to our brand that reflect our core mission of tauira success, and that speak to both our rich Māori heritage and to our future direction.

Tauira success, or the success of our students, has always been at the heart of why we do everything we do. That's why 96 per cent of our current students say they would recommend us to their whānau and friends.

Our new tahu, or logo, represents a bird's eye view of the waka, with the tauira at the centre. It represents you on your journey, at the centre of the waka, and our role to help guide and support you and your whānau as you strive for success in your study, career, and personal life goals.

We hope you will have seen more of our new branding online, in the streets, at events, in your local paper, and in your community. Our new tahu, colour palettes, fonts, and new ways of communicating form just some of the changes we're making to reach, include, and support you even more.

Our sites throughout New Zealand have been refreshed with our new brand as we transition from the old to the new. We're all about tauira success, and we'd love to help you and your whānau get started on your own journey of change.

We're proud to be a place where people get more than just an education. Our students get recognised qualifications in an environment that's supportive and designed for their success.

Our qualified tutors care not only about your studies – they care about you as a person, too. You'll get a quality education in your chosen area, and an insight into your own identity and the rich indigenous culture of our country.

You'll get an education that's delivered with flexible options to suit you. And what excites us most is we know that you'll get positive change - for yourself, for your family, and in your life.

*We're here for you,
and for all New Zealanders*

Ko Te Wānanga o Aotearoa he wāhi i tua atu o te whiwhi mātauranga. Ka whiwhi a mātou tauira i ngā tahu whai mana ki tētahi taiao tauawhi, angitu. Ka whiwhi kaiako māraurau e ngākaunui ana ki ā rātou mahi ako, ki a rātou tonu hoki, nō reira ka whai whanaungatanga ki ngā tauira. Ka whiwhi akoranga kōunga ki tā rātou e pīrangi ai, me te mātau atu ki ō rātou tuakiri, ahurea taketake hoki o motu. Ka whiwhi mātauranga me ngā kōwhiringa ako. Ka mutu, ko te mea e whakahihiko nei i a mātou, ka whiwhi huarahi whakawhiti – mō rātou, mō ō rātou whānau, me ō rātou ao.
